What is the Family Friendly Working Hours Initiative?

The family friendly working hours initiative is designed to support family friendly workplaces in Australia. Today we are seeing working hours constantly expanded, more and more people and business owners working on weekends, after hours and on public holidays in order to catch up or get ahead. The family friendly working hours initiative was created to support businesses who care about their employee's family time and support family friendly working hours.

What are the benefits of Family Friendly Working Hours?

- De-creased stress levels; leading to happier and healthier lifestyles
- More time with your children, partner, family or friends
- De-creases in domestic arguments and violence reported
- A higher quality of work from less stressed employees

How can I join the Family Friendly Working Hours Initiative?

Just head over to our website <https://familyfriendlyworking.zone> and register your workplace for the initiative.

We work with a company that is a member of the Family Friendly Working Hours Initiative. What does this mean for me?

1. A higher quality of work from less stressed workers
2. A much higher chance of a friendly interaction from happier workers
3. Limited access to after hours facilities, or emergency only support systems
4. The pride of supporting a business that supports its employees and their families.
